

AI-powered IR & Strategy Assistant Transforms Capital Market Engagement for a North American O&G Company

Challenge

The IR and Corporate Strategy teams were burdened by a fragmented, manual process — spending countless hours preparing management scripts, aligning messaging with past quarters, anticipating analyst questions, post-earnings sentiment analysis, investor follow-ups, peer tracking and competitive benchmarking — often taking weeks to complete.

The client needed an AI-driven solution to streamline pre- and post-earnings workflows, ensure consistent investor messaging, extract real-time intelligence from company and peer communications, and enable faster, data-backed responses to analysts, investors, and rating agencies.

Approach

- Data Integration & Security: Deployed a centralized AI platform stitching data from financials, investor documents, and call transcripts from multiple systems directly into a private, secure environment—not accessible via public LLMs
- Domain-Specific Workflows: Trained and finetuned complex models for pre and post earnings, answering investor and analyst queries, benchmarking peers' financials, and analyzing peers' capital allocation and market sentiments
- Multi-document Intelligence & Memory: Developed continuity and consistency while cross-referencing across quarters, competitors and documents
- Output Format Customization: Supporting investor-ready outputs: slide content, memos, briefings—with charts, tables, citations, and tailored formatting for management and board communication
